

THE BISBEE DAILY REVIEW

MEMBER ASSOCIATED PRESS.

VOLUME 13.

BISBEE, ARIZONA.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 13, 1912

NUMBER 161

ELECTORS MAY BE KEPT OUT FROM VOTING

Grave Possibility Arizona Wilson Electoral Men Will Be Debarred from Balloting in College for Him

LEGAL QUESTION IS RAISED BY ATTORNEY

New State Has No Canvassing Board and Legality of Election Without Official Count May Be Doubtful

PHOENIX, Nov. 12.—That there is a very grave possibility that John R. Hampton, Wiley E. Jones and W. T. Webb, the recently selected presidential electors, may never have the pleasure of casting their ballots in the electoral college for Woodrow Wilson as chief executive of the land, was the positive statement made by one of the state's leading lawyers today.

After making this startling statement the attorney continued to "prove his case." He stated that after carefully looking at the matter from every angle he was absolutely of the belief that unless a session of the legislature was called immediately and a law passed providing for the canvassing of the returns of the recent election before the meeting of the electoral college in February, the Arizona members would be debarred from voting if anyone desired to take the matter to court.

Osborne-Davis Suit Recalled. Continuing, the attorney recalled the decision of the supreme court in the Osborne-Davis suit, in that legal battle the point at issue was the state election bill which in addition to calling an election provided a method of canvassing the returns. The supreme court held that the provision for a canvassing board was unconstitutional. This said the attorney, Arizona is in the peculiar position of having held an election, but is without legal provision for canvassing the returns.

Canvassing Board Necessary. "What is the use of holding an election if there is no legal method of canvassing the returns?" he asked. "If electors can be debarred from voting unless the governor calls a session of the legislature and a canvassing board is provided for prior to the casting of the presidential vote in the electoral college."

After waiting for years to cast a presidential vote it now appears that unless Governor Hunt immediately issues a call for the convening of the legislature, the ballots cast last Tuesday will be of no effect.

AMERICAN ENGINEERS TO TOUR GERMANY

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Dr. Conrad Mataschoss, head of the Royal Polytechnic School of Berlin, is in this country to confer with a committee of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers concerning arrangements for the tour to be made by members of the society next summer as guests of the Verein Deutscher Ingenieure. The indications are that it will be the most remarkable tour of the industries of Germany ever offered to American engineers. The tour will begin with the arrival of the Americans at Bremen on June 21.

SOUTHERN PHYSICIANS MEET

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 12.—The Southern Medical Association, which embraces the States of Mississippi, Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana and Florida, met in annual convention in Jacksonville today for a three days' session. The program provides for papers and addresses by many physicians and surgeons of wide reputation.

TRACK FOREMEN IN CONVENTION

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 12.—The Order of Railway Track Foremen of America began its eighth annual convention in this city today, with Grand President L. B. Clark of New Haven presiding. The attendance included representatives of many of the leading roads of the United States and Canada. The convention will continue over tomorrow.

MISSISSIPPI RIVER COMMISSION

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 12.—The Mississippi River commission met for its annual fall session on board the steamer Mississippi here today. The meeting will be followed by an inspection trip down the river to New Orleans. Public hearings on matters connected with the improvement of the river will be given at many points along the route.

Spanish Premier is Killed by Assassin While Doing Duties

Jose Canalejas Is Shot Four Times While Entering Cabinet Room

MADRID, Spain, Nov. 12.—Spanish Premier Jose Canalejas was assassinated today. The assassin was captured by the police. He said his name was Manuel Pardo. He fired four shots as the premier was entering the cabinet room. Two of the bullets took effect back of the right ear of the premier, who fell dead. The assassin is 28 years old and an anarchist. Soon after his arrest, Martin committed suicide.

Canalejas belonged to a wealthy family. He began his political career at 25 and entered the ministry under Premier Sagasta as minister of agriculture at the age of 27. He was made premier at the age of 35. It was his policies which caused a clash in the state vatican and which has not yet been settled.

TWENTY-ONE MEN ARE UNDER ARREST

Ely Authorities Hold Miners Implicated in Killing of Two Greeks

ELY, Nev. 12.—Twenty-one men were arrested here today on warrants sworn out by Anthony Jurich, which charged the implicated men with slitting at the gates of the McGill smelter last month when two Greek strikers were killed. The men arrested comprised the first lot of guards brought here by the Nevada Consolidation Mining Co. It is said the men were on duty at the smelter gates when the two men were killed.

TRY MILITARY MANEUVERS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The secret almost of complete failure is supposed to be the Turkish army does not far seek an opinion of the officers of the general staff of the United States army. False economy and poor administration it is said will tell the army.

The American tactical experts have welcomed the opportunity to drop purely theoretical "paper war" problems which largely will engage their attention in time of peace for the study of tremendous military events in the Balkans. Some of the officers have served as military attachés or observers in the great military maneuvers held in every country in which now is a seat of war.

MEETING OF COLLEGIATE ALUMNAE

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 12.—The Association of Collegiate Alumnae of the United States opened its annual convention at the University of Michigan today. The sessions will continue until Saturday. The association was organized thirty years ago and it is the only national non-professional organization of American college women having for its aim purely educational work. The present meeting is to be devoted largely to the discussion of academic subjects. At a dinner to be given Friday night in honor of the visitors the speakers will include President Angell of the University of Michigan and the heads of Wellesley, Bryn Mawr, Mount Holyoke, Smith and other of the leading American colleges for women.

MASONIC TEMPLE DEDICATED

CUMBERLAND, Md., Nov. 12.—The new Masonic Temple in this city, occupying a part of the site of old Fort Cumberland, was dedicated today in the presence of a large and retentive gathering of the Masonic fraternity. Thomas W. Shryock of Baltimore, grand master of the Maryland grand lodge of Masons, officiated at the ceremonies.

AGRICULTURISTS MEET IN ATLANTA

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 12.—Delegates from many states gathered in Atlanta today for a series of convocations of much interest and importance to those engaged in the farming industry. The principal meetings of the week will be those of the Association of American Agricultural Colleges and the American Association of Farmers' Institute Workers. Chief Moore, another representative of the United States weather bureau are here to confer with the delegates or plans to make the weather bureau reports of greater benefit to the agricultural and fruit growing interests of the nation.

PLURALITY BUT LITTLE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12.—Additional official returns reduce Col. Roosevelt's plurality in California to 68 votes.

TAFT WANTS WILSON GUEST

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—President Taft intimated to his friends today he would like to entertain President-elect Wilson and Mrs. Wilson at the White House sometime before March 4.

Feeding Many Thousands of Turkish Prisoners Process Heavy Drain on Allies; Moslems Get Bread and Water

Turkish Prisoners of War at Podgoritz.

CETTINGE, Montenegro, Nov. 12.—(Special).—The war with Turkey has brought to this little country many problems, not the least of which is the question of how to feed thousands of Turkish prisoners of war.

Montenegro, a barren little kingdom a few thousand square miles in extent, has always been poor. The war with Turkey has rapidly depleted her meagre resources. Her own soldiers have to be armed and fed. That is hard enough; but now she has thousands of war prisoners to care for.

As might be supposed the Turkish prisoners get very little to eat and practically no medical attendance. They must be content with a diet of coarse bread and water. They say they are used to starving, that while they were in the Turkish army they faced little better.

Grafting has been reduced to a fine art by Turkish officials and funds supplied them for war supplies have gone into their own pockets. If the stories told by these Turkish prisoners are true the greed of the sultan's army officers is in large measure responsible for the weakness of Turkish arms.

The accompanying picture was taken at Podgoritz where 3,000 Turkish prisoners were brought at one time by the victorious Montenegrins. Writing of the arrival of these prisoners an English woman correspondent of a London paper said:

"Then followed the procession of prisoners—an amazing spectacle. Rank after rank out of the gloom tramped what seemed to be endless files of Turkish regulars. They were carrying bundles and coats. On they came in fairly regular order, four or five abreast. For nearly a quarter of an hour I watched them pass. I thought of what I had read of Roman triumphs. The long line of prisoners entered the town and passed through the streets lined with people, but the Montenegrins made no demonstration of their triumph. So many extra mouths to feed will make a heavy drain on the resources of the town."

It is not surprising that the Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

As might be supposed the Turkish prisoners get very little to eat and practically no medical attendance. They must be content with a diet of coarse bread and water. They say they are used to starving, that while they were in the Turkish army they faced little better.

Grafting has been reduced to a fine art by Turkish officials and funds supplied them for war supplies have gone into their own pockets. If the stories told by these Turkish prisoners are true the greed of the sultan's army officers is in large measure responsible for the weakness of Turkish arms.

The accompanying picture was taken at Podgoritz where 3,000 Turkish prisoners were brought at one time by the victorious Montenegrins. Writing of the arrival of these prisoners an English woman correspondent of a London paper said:

"Then followed the procession of prisoners—an amazing spectacle. Rank after rank out of the gloom tramped what seemed to be endless files of Turkish regulars. They were carrying bundles and coats. On they came in fairly regular order, four or five abreast. For nearly a quarter of an hour I watched them pass. I thought of what I had read of Roman triumphs. The long line of prisoners entered the town and passed through the streets lined with people, but the Montenegrins made no demonstration of their triumph. So many extra mouths to feed will make a heavy drain on the resources of the town."

It is not surprising that the Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

As might be supposed the Turkish prisoners get very little to eat and practically no medical attendance. They must be content with a diet of coarse bread and water. They say they are used to starving, that while they were in the Turkish army they faced little better.

Grafting has been reduced to a fine art by Turkish officials and funds supplied them for war supplies have gone into their own pockets. If the stories told by these Turkish prisoners are true the greed of the sultan's army officers is in large measure responsible for the weakness of Turkish arms.

The accompanying picture was taken at Podgoritz where 3,000 Turkish prisoners were brought at one time by the victorious Montenegrins. Writing of the arrival of these prisoners an English woman correspondent of a London paper said:

"Then followed the procession of prisoners—an amazing spectacle. Rank after rank out of the gloom tramped what seemed to be endless files of Turkish regulars. They were carrying bundles and coats. On they came in fairly regular order, four or five abreast. For nearly a quarter of an hour I watched them pass. I thought of what I had read of Roman triumphs. The long line of prisoners entered the town and passed through the streets lined with people, but the Montenegrins made no demonstration of their triumph. So many extra mouths to feed will make a heavy drain on the resources of the town."

It is not surprising that the Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

As might be supposed the Turkish prisoners get very little to eat and practically no medical attendance. They must be content with a diet of coarse bread and water. They say they are used to starving, that while they were in the Turkish army they faced little better.

Grafting has been reduced to a fine art by Turkish officials and funds supplied them for war supplies have gone into their own pockets. If the stories told by these Turkish prisoners are true the greed of the sultan's army officers is in large measure responsible for the weakness of Turkish arms.

The accompanying picture was taken at Podgoritz where 3,000 Turkish prisoners were brought at one time by the victorious Montenegrins. Writing of the arrival of these prisoners an English woman correspondent of a London paper said:

"Then followed the procession of prisoners—an amazing spectacle. Rank after rank out of the gloom tramped what seemed to be endless files of Turkish regulars. They were carrying bundles and coats. On they came in fairly regular order, four or five abreast. For nearly a quarter of an hour I watched them pass. I thought of what I had read of Roman triumphs. The long line of prisoners entered the town and passed through the streets lined with people, but the Montenegrins made no demonstration of their triumph. So many extra mouths to feed will make a heavy drain on the resources of the town."

It is not surprising that the Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

The Turkish prisoners are in a state of starvation. The Montenegrins have no money to buy food for them. They are forced to live on the scraps of food that the Montenegrins themselves can spare.

POWERS SEEK TO SAFEGUARD ALL FOREIGNERS

Eleven Warships Are Now in Harbor at Constantinople and Each Will Protect Their Citizens.

U. S. CRUISERS WILL SOON BE IN WATERS

2,000 Available Blue Jackets Are Ready to Go Ashore and Turkey Will Soon Submit to Force.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Landing a force of at least 2,000 available troops from the international fleet in the harbor of Constantinople would instantly be sent ashore should the Moors cause an outbreak, and endanger the lives of foreigners in the Turkish capital. This force is considered by the state department to be adequate to meet any emergency the fight might cause. Anxiety of the fleet for the Americans has been dispelled by assurance today from Russia to assume responsibility for the safety of all citizens of the United States.

There is now in the harbor of Constantinople eleven warships, two British, two Russian, two French, two Italian, two Austrian and one German in addition to the regular stations.

Another German vessel and a Spanish and Dutch vessel as well as two Italian hospital ships will reach Constantinople tonight or tomorrow. Communication with the cruisers Tennessee and Montana which left Philadelphia today for Turkish waters will be maintained during their voyage across the Atlantic by the new wireless station at Arlington.

LOOKING FOR PEACE

BELGRADE, Nov. 12.—The newspaper Pravda says the Austro-Hungarian minister called on Premier Patechich and proposed that Serbia give guarantees to the Austro-Hungarian chancery of industry and commerce and it shall receive a preferential treatment; that Serbia will not touch Albania and will not insist on an outlet to the Adriatic and will be satisfied with an outlet to the Aegean sea. The minister personally was advised to do his utmost to induce the Serbian government to accept these conditions which he declared would do much to improve the future relations between the two countries.

CZAR IS GENEROUS

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 12.—"As an expression of my thanks for the grace of God, to which is due the recovery to the heir to the throne, I pardon Private Dacheurin of his grave offense." This is the language of the imperial decree granting pardon to a soldier who last October was sentenced to penal servitude for life for leaving the ranks at a review in order to hand a petition to the czar.

CRUISERS ON WAY TO TURKEY

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 12.—Armored cruisers Montana and Tennessee, with a full complement of marines, steamed for Turkish waters today to safeguard American interests. It is learned the crews waged heavily on the outcome of the race across the Atlantic, the Montana giving odds that it would be first into Gibraltar.

STORMING CAPITAL FORTRESS

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Nov. 12.—Reports today state that the Bulgarians have begun storming the Tchatalla fortress and Constantinople, but no other information can be received here.

BULGARIANS CAPTURE FORTS

LONDON, Eng., Nov. 12.—A dispatch from Sofia says the Bulgarians have captured the line of forts at Tchatalla in front of Constantinople. The Bulgarian column reached from Byk Chermeye on the sea of Marmora, to the south of Tchatalla.

POWERS TO SOUND BALKANS

LONDON, Nov. 12.—It was stated today that the powers of Europe, at the request of Turkey, are about to sound the Balkan allies with the object of arranging terms of peace. The powers, however, is not likely to listen to such a proposal until after the battle along the line of the Tchatalla forts, the beginning of which only awaits the arrival of more heavy siege guns.

TURKS LOSE 8000

BELGRADE, Nov. 12.—The Serbian casualties, mostly of a minor nature at the battle at Philip are said to have been 2000. The Turks lost 8,000.

Man Who Shot Col. Roosevelt Pleads Guilty to Charge

John Schrank, Who Attempted to Kill Candidate Says Rough Rider Menace

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 12.—John Schrank, assailant of Roosevelt, pleaded guilty when he was arraigned today. The court immediately named a commission to inquire into Schrank's sanity.

When arraigned, Schrank heard the information read, the court asked how he would plead. "Why guilty, of course," he said. "But I did not shoot Roosevelt because he was a citizen but because he was a menace. Any man seeking the third term as president is a menace to the country. I shot him as a warning that men must not try to have more than two terms."

District Attorney Seabell said the man was undoubtedly insane and requested an insane commission, and the court said he would name one immediately.

Schrank was taken back to his cell.

POPE DEEPLY AFFECTED

ROME, Nov. 12.—The assassination of Premier Canalejas of Spain, produced the deepest impression, particularly at the Vatican where remembrance is still divided because of his struggle against the religious orders.

The pope was deeply affected exclaiming: "This comes from stamping out religion in the most Catholic country."

THANKSGIVING BIRDS TO COST MORE

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 12.—According to the South Water street commission merchants the Thanksgiving turkey this year is likely to cost the housewife from 30 to 35 cents a pound, or more than double the prevailing prices of a decade ago. The turkeys for the Chicago market come from all over the West and South, many of them from as far as Texas and the Dakotas. The cold wet months of last spring are reported to have caused a short crop throughout nearly all of this section.

SOUTHERN LUTHERANS IN SESSION

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 12.—The biennial convention of the United Synod of the Lutheran church began in Atlanta today with an attendance of delegates from all of the Southern States from Virginia to Mississippi. The convention sessions will last an entire week and